in cigar stores, saloons and other places where cigars are sold, for it is an undisputed fact that most smokers prefer a mild cigar, and that those who have for a long time smoked strong cigars, principally imported Havanas, will, after having thoroughly fajured the stom-ach and impaired the nervous system, surely want a mild cigar, if they could find the right kind.

How many thousands of smokers who suffer from loss of appetite, headache, nervous irritability, asthma, etc., and who have tried all possible remedies without success, might be cured if they knew that their sufferings were caused by the intemperate use of strong cigars, and that they should only smoke mild and properly prepared ones.

The first witness called was Dr. Joseph Sansbury, who testifield was Dr. Joseph Sansbury, who testified that the lady was sane. At this point her attorney, Joseph Kirkland, insisted that the parties that secured her arrest should appear, and the Court sustaining formants, and no one answered. Dr. Bluthard volunteered the testimony that the lady was insane, though perhaps not dangerous. The subject herself, who retains considerable of her youthful beauty, conducted herself with ladylike reserve and composure, which added strength to the plea of her santty. As the complainants did not appear, Judge Prendergast ordered her temporarily committed to the Home for the Friendless, from which she will be taken as soon as a position is seen to meet a position is seen. will be taken as soon as a position is se-cured for her. The facts of her apprehen-sion and submission to inquiry are that she was arrested by detective Flynn on complaint of the managing editor of a city paper, whom she had threatened because of

They, of all others, are inclined I to listen to his wild talk about the common crowded out of the country of their forecare but little about George's projects. George not being a Catholic himself, entirely failed to understand the love which the Roman Catholic, good, bad or indifferent, bears for his Church. I now hear all around the denunciations of George from men who ten days ago were ready to talk in his favor, and even inclined to support him politically, notwithstanding the com-mon belief that the Roman Catholic Church is against him first and last. Then George had not insulted and defied what these men in their inmost hearts hold sacred. Were George now to call for 30,000 names of per-sons who wished him to run for Mayor he

LOGAN'S SUCCESSOR.

Illinois Republicans Nominate Charles B. . Farwell for Senator. SPRINGFIELD (Ill.), January 13th.-The joint Republican caucus to nominate a successor to Logan was called this afternoon. Nominations were made without nominating speeches. On the first ballot (necessary for a choice, 56), Farwell re-ceived 37, Hamilton 16, Henderson 10, Payson 12, Cannon 11, Carr 8, Raum 7, Burchard 5, Plumb 1, Shuman 1, Morri-son 1, Medill 1. Hon Charles B. Farwell was nominated on the second ballot. As the roll was called there was a general break of members for the successful can-didate, it becoming evident that Farwell would receive the nomination. Senator Evans withdrew the name of Hamilton in taver of Farwell, and on motion of Green, of Wabash, the nomination of Farwell was made unanimous.

Омана, January 13th.—The Missouri Pacific express train, which left Omaha on Tuesday night for St. Louis, was en-tirely ditched about midnight near Dunbar. Engineer Dewitt, of Wyandotte, Kan., was instantly killed, the drop lever of his engine being forced clear through and some light bruises. The cause of the accident was the removal of two rails by two men who were seen running away CHAS. B. FARWELL TO SUCCEED from the place. They left two crowbars. It is believed that the deed was done either by personal enemies of the engineer or by enemies of the Missouri Pacific, owing to last year's labor troubles. Engineer Dewitt sided against the strikers, and it is said that some of them were very bitter against him. The case will be thoroughly investi-D. W. Hoffman and James Bell have

Mr. Vrooman thought there was nothin whereon to found a charge against the integrit of a State officer to warrant an investigation; to the act of defiance to the Constitution, thought there was nothing in that instruments in the constitution of the constit be proved, existed for the suspension of equality guilty, and, if an investigation was to be had, they should be included. He had talked with Governor Stoneman upon the subject, and was informed by him that he considered this one of the best appointments that he had made luring his administration. He admonished the senate to be careful about ordering an investigation unless there is some specific charge.

Mr. Briceland read some portion of a private correspondence he had received, relating to this matter, as follows: "He is a gentleman of the highest integrity—of the most sensitive amon, and of the most unselfish purpose, being a man who would not raise a finger to maintain his appointment." He was in favor of voting now for his confirmation.

Mr. Clunie said he had nothing against Mr. Lord, personally, but considered it his duty to make the motion, from the matter that was in his hands, and which he had presented to the senate. Taking occasion to say that the Senate and approved appointments of gentlemen of whom they had no knowledge, and considering the Senate responsible for the appointments, he hought this matter should be looked into, even f there was nothing in it.

centirely too much for his nerves. He asked tae clerk to examine closely and see whether or not there was a washing machine or a piano in the list that had been overlooked.

Matthews of San Benito said he had served in the halls of legislation in several States, but he gave notice there and then, that his political life was at an end; he would stay to the close of the session, but after that he should go into respectable private life.

Wilcox said he had been fighting codlin moths and various kinds of scare-bug, but he had run against something here that no kind of spraying would exterminate. If the tree was as badly affected as it appeared to be, he was in favor of cutting it down. That such a requisition could be made out in this "glorious climate" was more than he could understand. Even if the requisition was filled, he did not believe there was a room in the Capitol building that would hold all the articles enumerated.

would consent to be a party to such arrangement, the power to levy tribute to any extent the gang might fix, upon every measure that came up, before it would be allowed to pass. This is a startling proposition, and one which if put into successful operation would simply turn the Legislature into an ambuscade, for levying blood-money through the State's own machinery, and in an improved highwayman style. With a view to ascertain what truth there might be in the report, a RECORD-UNION representative has interviewed some of the leading Democratic Senators upon the subject, and ob-

sentative has interviewed some of the leading Democratic Senators upon the subject, and obtained the following expressions:

Senator Boggs said: I have heard of this before, but it has not been broached in caucus, and I do not believe it will be. Such a proposition would be so monstrous that no honorable man would for an instance listen to it. If any attempt to thus control the Legislature is manifested, it will be the duty of every honest Senator, not only not to be bound by caucus dictation, but also to oppose every movement in that tion, but also to oppose every movement in the direction to the bitter end. While I sm a Demo crat, I am here in the interest of the whole pe

Senator Briceland said: I have always been perfectly independent of the cancus power, and always intend to be, except in such matters as relate to organization, election of officers, etc., which are purely political matters. The cancus for these purposes is well enough, but when it shall extend to interfere with general legislation it becomes pernicious, and I do not think the Democrats will for a moment attempt to do any such thing, but if they do, they cannot control me.

It ought to prevail, and the scheme have the life choked out of it. The theory of the system of legislation never contemplated clerkships for delegations. Assemblymen represent districts, one to each: there is, therefore, no more need for a clerk for one than another. Nothing is referred to delegations now, since all legislation must be general—with few exceptions. Under such exceptions large "delegations," better than small ones, can do their own clerking, for there are more members from among whom to there are more members from amoug whom to choose to "keep minutes." The Fan Francisco delegation in the last Legislatur was accorded a clerk, and a man elected who was never seen ereafter except on pay de. s. Its clear sounding tones of loyalty to all that is best in the land; its noble advocacy of the right for all classes; its clear, good type, are things that have made this paper a household necessity with us. And so, Record-Union, in view of these things, I have ventured to write you this letter. I feel that in you the defenseless have a

Looking out from that fair valley home and to the encircling hills beyond, she queried thus: "What can I do to release from the grash of that legal robbathis from the grasp of that legal robber this home that is rightfully mine?" Nothing ould be done. All was gone! Irretriev ably gone. Other women have I seen who have been thrust out from their homes, attended b mall children, to gain a living as best they could. And so I say to you law-makers now assembled at Sacramento, that unless this

This is no fanciful picture: it is truth. These women came to California in the long ago by sea and land-came with youth and health upon their brows. They have given all their middle life to the ouilding of homes that are now the delight of all Eastern tourists; but what is California doing for these aged pioneer women? Thrusting them out from these homes un-der sanction of law. Great Heavens! Let us pray! Yes, my toiling sisters, throughout the length and breadth of California, let us pray! Let us go to our law-makers, and, on bended knees before them, plead with them for the total extinction of this cruel and unjust law. Let us entreat of them, in the name of all that is holy-in the name of mother, wife and sister, to deal justly with us.

Let us teil them that this law is a great njury to the best interests of this great and rowing State; that it is sowing the seeds discord in many homes, leaving dark shadows upon many thresholds that time will never obliterate. We will tell them the State homestead law to which they rethe women of the State, and when heard om them, it is too late then to seek its protection; that its application to any home brings with it distrust and aliena-

Let the law so read that all such homes located upon these lands shall not be conveyed away from the wife, either by assignment or mortgage, without her consent and signature. We shall find among these law-makers ceding the autumn election, passed among our mountain pines, seeking legislative honors, and glorying in the title of Native Sons. Hoar characterized Harris' statement as extraordinary, and appealed to the Senate not to submit to that kind of threat. Here was a bill embodied in four great salutary propositions, on which the Senate, the House of Representatives and the American people were substantially agreed, and the Senate was now told that none of these things should be accomplished unless there was engrafted on the bill what was a departure from the great doctrine of reason-ableness, unless there was engrafted a principle against which the customers and not the railroads interested in the carrying trade were protesting, on the ground that the inevitable effect of it would be to put up freights and to make large branches business, now carrying on successfully and profitably, impossible in the future.

George advocated the adoption of the redisrepute.

The bill, Evarts said, has been properly designated "An Act to Regulate Com-merce," not to regulate interstate commerce. He denounced the bill as being unconstitutional and as entirely lodged in the Federal Government's jurisdiction over the subject of commerce. The Constitution was framed to "form a more perfect Union to establish justice and to insure domestic but one fault of the bill less perfect, to disestablish justice, and to insure domestic discord. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Wednesday night the residence of James Farris, 1123 H street, was burglarized, the thief succeeding in getting away with considerable money-somewhere between $60 | contained in the box, and he had looked and $75. He got in by climbing a small tree, which enabled him to reach an un-fastened window. To put housekeepers on their guard, it may be mentioned that the burglar or burglars operating in the city at present show that a visit is made in the day-time to the premises to be operated upon, and the plan of procedure is then prepared. Keep an eye on suspicious characters that come about.

M. Early, house, 1118 H street—close to burglar or burglars operating in the city at

Mr. Farris'—was also entered by a burglar the same night—or rather about 2:30 w the same night—or rather about 2:30 A. M. yesterday, the hour being known because of the fact that the hiredgirl was awakened and saw the fellow. Knowing that his presence was discovered the fled precipitately. and saw the fellow. Knowing that his presence was discovered, he fled precipitately. Mr. Fay was aroused meanwhile, and seizing his pistol started after the prowler, and thinks he might have shot him, but he sitated to fire. If he had, the fugitive might have run into the hands of two might have run into the hands of two officers who were in the immediate vicinity at the time, but who did not see any one Entrance to the house was gained by means of a small ladder, belonging on the premises, which was raised to a window. A ladder was also found placed against one of the windows of S. J. Deuel's house, adjoining. Yesterday Chief Dillman and officer Yager arrested John Henry Johnson, alias Hays, suspicion of his being the perpetrator of the burglaries, but it was subs equently ascertained that he was not the man.

Chinese Burglar Captured.

Last Tuesday morning, when John A Sheehan visited the station-house to give information concerning his tussle with a Chinese burglar the night before, officer Sullivan rather astonished him by giving a perfect description of the Celestial, before Mr. Sheehan had got that far. The description of the covery and asked him if he was not the Mr. Sheehan had got that far. The descrip-tion was of one Lee Ah Lee, who was released from Folsom prison about two weeks ago at the expiration of a term of imprisonment for burglary, he having been sent from San Francisco. The officer knew that he had made Sacramento his headquarters since his discharge, and being satisfied that he would soon commit some offense, was not surprised when be heard that the burg-lary at Mr. Shedhan's residence were continued to the basement, showed Mr. Leake where he he would soon commit some offense, was lary at Mr. Sheehan's residence was committed by a Chinaman. He and other offimitted by a Chinaman. He and other officers commenced a search for Lee, and yesterday afternoon, as he and officer McCormack were passing through I street, Sullivan saw his man sitting in front of the old Gem building, between Second and Sullivan saw his man sitting in front of the old Gem building, between Second and Third streets, and took him in charge. He gave his name as Ah Sing, and stoutly denied any knowledge of the burg'ary; but Mr. Sheehan was called to see him, and he immediately identified the prisoner as the immediately identified the prisoner as the party wanted. The watch and chain stolen from the Sheehan residence were found in his pocket. Subsequently Sullivan went into the cell and had a talk with Lee, who owned up finally, saying: "Yes, I do him. I guess I go back Folsom again."

Seats in Capitol Park.

EDS. RECORD-UNION: It has occurred to me on several occasions when visiting the beautiful grounds around our Capitol building, that seats ought to be provided in various parts of the same, in order that visitors might rest themselves, and it is a surprise to me and others that none of our thorities, and yesterday morning a Deputy United States Marshal went to the railroad shores where Kennedy was at work and public men have yet thought of this boon to citizens and their families. I have several times lately observed ladies resting themselves on the steps and wing walks of the terraces, and have wondered if there was no one in the city public-spirited enough to agitate this question of seats. I have lately visited several of the Eastern States, and saw many public parks and pleasure-grounds, and in every one of them seats and benches were provided for the comfort of visitors. I have spoken to many of our citizens on the subject, and all seem to think that seats should be provided in the Capitol grounds. Trusting that you will ventilate this matter through the columns of your valuable paper, I am yours, respectfully,

SACRAMENTAN ROBBED. - About two weeks ago Edward Callahan, of this city, went down to the Bay on a pleasure trip. Strolling into the grocery store on Hinckley alley and Broadway he ostentatiously exposed his watch and chain to view. The cupidity of Steve McDonald was excited, and he relieved Callahan of his timepiece. James Brady appeared to act the part of consoler in the matter, and he, while sympathizing with Callahan, contrived to ease him of $22 50. Last Wednesday night the two thieves were arrested by officers Rainsbury and Linsky and booked for petit larceny of the Sacramento Postoffice. E. J. Kennedy is a bright, intelligent young man about eighteen years of age, of respectable parentage. On October 1, 1885, Postmaster Green appointed him as a special delivery messenger in this city. He had the confidence of Mr. Green, and also of the latter's successor, Mr. Stephens, until a few months ago, when he was connected and James Jarrett. position he held necessitated his remaining dance in the office at night, some hours after the & O'. other employes had gone to their homes One morning one of the mailing-clerks missed $13 of his private funds, which he had placed in a drawer for safe-keeping. The matter was reported to Postmaster Stephens, and although nothing was said to Kennedy about it, he was strongly suspicioned. Shortly afterwards it was dis picioned. Shortly afterwards it was dis-covered that an attempt had been made, during the night, to force open the drawer containing "due money," small coins, one and two-cent pieces. One night a mailing-clerk returned to the office for a forgotten article, and on opening the door discovered Kennedy at the box of Weinstock & Lu-bin. The metre was bin. . The matter was REPORTED TO THE POSTMASTER,

A YOUTHFUL TRANSGRESSOR. E. J. Kennedy Confesses to the Robbing

And on Kennedy's being questioned regarding it, he said some one from the store called to inquire about some private letters through its contents to oblige them. Lost letter tracers began to come in thick and fast. The matter was referred to proper authorities, who investigated it as thoroughly as possible, resulting in coming to railroad shops and commenced learning a trade, and has been thus employed ever since. At the end of the year, the deputy Postmaster went into the basement to make some alterations in the store-room to reports and records. In moving some shelving he discovered a LARGE BUNDLE OF OPENED LETTERS. The letters were gathered up and the Inpector sent for. On the latter's arrival he was shown the letters, and also informed of the questionable actions of Kennedy, which caused all to believe him to be the guilty party. Another batch of letters ad-dressed to Weinstock & Lubin, bearing the delivery mark of October 17th, was found opened. In this last there was 83 letters and two postal cards. Among the opened letters some of the envelopes contained checks, money orders and stamps, and those entirely empty are supposed to have contained coin or currency. After this discovery Mr. Leake sent a note to Kennedy to call at the office. He called in the even-instant Mr. Leake to the called in the even-instant Mr. Leake told him of the discovery Mr.

SACRAMENTO, January 8, 1887. R. D. Stephens, Postmaster, Sacramento—Dear Sir: I hereby acknowledge placing a lot of let-ters, addressed to Weinstock & Lubin, Sacra-mento, in a box in the back room, said letters having been taken out of Drawer D on October 17, 1886. No one connected with the office had anything to do with it but myself. I make this statement voluntarily to relieve yourself and clerks from any blame in the matter. ED. J. KENNEDY.

The letter was signed in the presence of two employes of the Postoffice, with whom he had talked freely about the matter. His onfession was forwarded to the proper au horities, and vesterday morning a Deputy shops where Kennedy was at work and placed him under arrist. He was taken before United States Commissioner Robin son, where he was held to answer before the United States Grand Jury in San Fran cisco to-day. Pending that time, he was admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000.

The inaugural ball Canvassing Committee—consisting of Joseph Steffens, Frank Miller, William Beckman, H. Weinstock, Chris, Green, Ben, Cohen and R. D. Tickets to the amount of $1,700 have already been taken, and the committee hope and expect that at the conclusion of their work to-morrow evening they will have raised over $2,000. Reports from Stockton are to the effect that fifty or more tickets will be necessary to supply the dele gation that will be present from that city. Heretofore, on the occasion of an inaugura ball, there have been but about half a dozen people present from Stockton. This year, however, there appears to have been a determination on the part of the gentlemen having the matter in charge to make the ball a grand success, casting politics aside, and conducting the affair only as a social event, given in compliment to the new administration, and it is reasonable to believe, from present apearances, that it will excel any affair of the kind seen in California for many years. a literary, art and general improvement The attendance of ladies and gentlemen from San Francisco will be very large, and their are rumors of resplendent toilets being prepared for the occasion, with anxious in the Sacramento School of Design, to aid desire on the part of the owners to be with-Supper has been arranged for on the arsupper has been arranged for on the arrival of the train in Sacramento. oma county member of the Legislature has introduced a bill to omit quails from that quails are destructive to gardens and vineyards. It is to be hoped that among the assembled wisdom of the State there is no considerable number of men so lished by the testimony of every person who knows anything about the habits of quails—that these birds do not eat grapes, etc. On the contrary, they are a protec-tion to the vineyardist and gardener. No grape seed, or a particle of any fruit or other valuable product of orchard or gar-den. The quails frequent vineyards and the vines and vegetable stalks, as well as to eat the small seeds of grasses and weeds. I challenge the author of this bill, or any grapes or small fruits of any kind. The charge has often been made through ignorance, and it is about time that men should study the subject of ornithology be-

Report that the Yaqui Indians Have Surrendered.

Tucson, January 13th .- Private advices from Hermosillo, Sonora, state that the Yaqui war is virtually ended, more than 1,000 Yaquis having surrendered at one time to General Hernandez. The Yaquis are represented as being on the verge of starvation, bread and blankets being the condition of their surrender. Chief Cajeme is said to be a refugee, and is being closely pursued by Mexican troops under General Martinez. The Prefects of every town in the State have been instructed to be on the lookout for him. This report, although semi-official, is doubted here.

As soon as the fellow up the tree was satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the boar was really dead, he hastened to thank his rescurer, who had proved himself a friend in need. The bear weighed 750 pounds. His tusks were fully four inches long, and their edges were almost as sharp as razors. Judging from the seams that extended the full length of each tusk, it was estimated that the animal was about 21 years old. It is said that the dead boar's mate has her quarters in the vicinity of Twenty-one-mile Slough. Mr. Christopher has offered a reward of $50
